California Legislative Latino Caucus Presented Second Lecturer In Speaker Series

Sacramento – The Latino Caucus presented at the State Capitol, University of Southern California demographer Dowell Myers, to speak on his new book “IMMIGRANTS AND BOOMERS, *Forging a New Social Contract for the Future of America”. Myers says that many Americans regard the massive influx of immigrants over the past thirty years with great anxiety, fearing new burdens and unwanted changes to the nation’s ethnic, economic identity.

“The impressive progress made by immigrant families suggests they have the potential to pick up the slack from aging boomers over the next two decades. The mass retirement of the boomers will leave critical shortages in the educated workforce, while shrinking of middle-class taxpayers”

Myers suggests that it is in the boomer’s best interest to invest in the education and integration of immigrants and their children today in order to bolster the ranks of workers, taxpayers, and homeowners they will depend on ten and twenty years from now.

The Latino Caucus has established a Speaker Series, 2007 at the State Capitol and is engaged in the pressing issues of our time and invites the Media and the Community, at large to take the opportunity to hear these speakers. The Latino Caucus is committed to ensure economic, social and political success for all California Latinos.
